

Red Wing Park Naturalist Program

2019 SEASON REPORT

The 2019 season brought many new challenges and successes to the Red Wing Park Naturalist Program. We partnered with four new organizations, offered our first in-class program at Burnside School, and hired a reptile expert to offer a live turtle and snake program. We developed a mountain biking program and a day-camp focused on wildlife and sustainability. These two program had to be postponed due to weather, but the framework is in place to offer these program in upcoming years. Thank you so much to all of the community members that attended programs and to staff at the City of Red Wing and Community Education for their continued support. We're looking forward to an exciting 2020 season!
